Land Acknowledgement

We wish to acknowledge this land on which the University of Toronto operates. For thousands of years it has been the traditional land of the Huron-Wendat, the Seneca and, most recently, the Mississaugas of the Credit River. Today, this meeting place is still the home to many Indigenous people from across Turtle Island and we are grateful to have the opportunity to work and learn on this land.

KEYNOTE SPEAKER

Joost Jongerden is associate professor at Wageningen University, the Netherlands, and the project professor at the Asian Platform for Global Sustainability & Transcultural Studies at Kyoto University, Japan. He is the editor of Kurdish Studies, and is on the editorial board of Kurdish People, History and Politics. His research has focused on the question of how people create and maintain a liveable life under conditions of precarity. This research interest has expressed itself in two interrelated research tracks: one focusing on the ways people develop alternatives for market-induced insecurities, and the other on how people develop alternatives for state-induced insecurities. Jongerden refers to these alternatives as ‘self-organized practices’ or ‘Do-It-Yourself-Development’.

MUSICAL PERFORMANCES

Diar: Syrian trio performs Syrian and Arabic traditional songs mixed with a flamenco touch

George Sawa & Suzanne Meyers-Sawa: Celebrated scholars, well-known performers of traditional Arabic music and much revered U of T community members

Amir Hassanpour was a scholar of Kurdish history and language, a revolutionary scholar, a professor at the University of Toronto, and a great friend. On October 13, 2018 we honour Dr. Hassanpour with a lecture and musical performance. We hope you can join us.

This event is generously supported by donations made to the Department of Near & Middle Eastern Civilizations in memory of Dr. Hassanpour. Donate today: donate.utoronto.ca/hassanpour
